IV. TITLE VI IDENTIFICATION AND NEW ED 506 FORM

Over 114 Alaska Native Tribal affiliations represented in the over 1200 identified Native students. There are 20 different Native languages in Alaska (two main ones in KPBSD are Dena'iana and Sugcestun/Sug'sten). The diversity of such a small area can bring complications when applying for grants because targeting specifics, such as language, narrows the targeted population to be served. Title VI students are identified by the newly revised federal ED 506 form. The form has been revised to allow guardians as well as parents to sign the form. PowerSchool demographics must match what is indicated on the ED 506 form.

V. TITLE VI PROGRAM UPDATES

ANSEP (Alaska Native Science and Engineering Program) participation remains a priority for the “targeted assistance” part of KPBSD’s Title VI purpose and this will be our third year of participation. Middle school students grade 6-8 who are on track for high school level algebra by the 8th grade may apply for ANSEP. The district will recruit at least 12 students for the February academy in partnership with the Lower Kuskokwim School District. Since participation is limited to one time, KPBSD is considering creating a similar program to build on the skills and enthusiasm students gain when attending ANSEP. Last year, 48 students participated, which shortened our available pool of students who can participate this year. ANSEP no longer pays for the Academy, and participation costs $3,000 per student—another motivation for KPBSD to design its own ANSEP-like academy. Rebecca Dixon asked if participation is district-wide. While

ANSEP participation is available to all qualifying students, our funding source is restricted to Title VI students, which is another reason KPBSD is committed to creating our own program. Conrad continued the update reporting on a national shift in focus for Title VI programs. Under the new ESSA, districts are encouraged to focus on

- Language
- Partnering with tribal entities
- Culture—tying culture in to the classroom

Much of the reason for this shift in focus is based on the 2014 Native Youth Report issued by President Obama, which found the following:

- More than one in three American Indian and Alaska Native children live in poverty.
- The American Indian/Alaskan Native high school graduation rate is 67 percent, the lowest of any racial/ethnic demographic group across all schools. The most recent Department of Education data indicate that the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE) schools fare even worse, with a graduation rate of 53 percent, compared to a national average of 80 percent.
- Suicide is the second leading cause of death—2.5 times the national rate—for Native youth in the 15 to 24 year old age group.

KPBSD graduation statistics are:

- Overall graduation rate-82.73%
- Native graduation rate-80.43%

The Native Youth Report makes the following recommendations:

- Strengthen tribal control of education.
- Provide comprehensive, community-based student supports.
- Strengthen the integration of native cultures and languages into school climate and classrooms.
- Support highly effective teachers and school leaders (only 5% of teachers in Alaska schools are Alaska Native)
- Promote 21st century technology for tribal education.
- Strengthen and expand efforts that target suicide prevention.
- Improve community systems of care to better address the behavioral needs of Native youth.

VI. PARTNERSHIP UPDATES

Members present from our partnership organizations gave updates on their programs.

A. Project GRAD/KPNYL

Jennifer Freeman presented an update for Project GRAD/KPNYL highlighting recent students attended in order to earn their leadership credits. This summer, four students attended the Generation I National Training in Anchorage, fifteen attended the Summer College Institute, eight attended the National Unity Conference in Oklahoma City, and two had internships with the Kenaitze Indian Tribe. In August, 32 students attended the Cultural Exchange Institute, which included eight students from Hydaburg, AK. KPNYL students entered 52 projects in the Kenai Peninsula Fair. In September, four students will attend the Unity Native Youth Training in Anchorage and school site meetings will begin in October and students in the program will work as assistant meeting facilitators and assist with recruiting. October 20-23 will be the fall Phlight Club, which is a social, emotional and leadership development event. Students will have other opportunities to go offsite, including attending the Alaska Federation of Natives.

Schools that will be served this year:

- Seldovia 7-12

- Homer HS
- Homer Flex
- Soldotna HS
- Soldotna Prep
- Skyview 7-8
- Kenai HS
- Kenai Alternative 7-12
- Nikiski 7-12
- Seward HS
- Nanwalek 7-12
- Port Graham 7-12
- Ninilchik 7-12
- Tyonek 7-12

Suzanne Labelle attended the Unity Conference in Oklahoma City and shared some of her experiences. The conference was attended by 1,400 people and the theme was Our Sisters' Voice and focused on violence against women.

John Holland shared some of his experiences from the Cultural Exchange Institute. Attendees had the opportunity to learn about different cultures and attend a pow wow at the end. He is looking forward to doing it again.

Kenaitze

David Knight presented the update for the Kenaitze Indian Tribe. Susan Crane, a retired teacher, has been hired to serve at Mt. View Elementary and also with the Yaghanen Youth Program. She also attended the Yaghanen camps during the summer. She assessed the students at Mt. View and identified 21 students to serve based on test scores. Another tutor candidate is in the final stages of the hiring process to work at Kenai Middle School. This candidate is also a retired teacher and highly qualified.

Kenaitze distributed five scholarships totaling $75,000 and have helped 62 students with educational funding. Through the WIOA program, they placed 5 interns, one at the Dena'ina Wellness Center, one at the Elders Center, one with Tribal Government, one with the Housing Assistance Program and their Early Childhood Center. These placements provide opportunities for students to build their resumes and employment schools. One internship placement resulted in employment.

Michael Bernard reported on the Yaghanen Youth Construction Academy Camp. Eight youths attended and learned how to build a cabin and wire it for a generator. Conrad asked if tutoring has increased Yaghanen's numbers. Michael stated that while Yaghanen's numbers have increased, he's not sure if it's due to the tutoring.

VII. MISCELLANEOUS

Near the conclusion of the meeting, miscellaneous topics were discussed:

Title VI Information/Education

Tim Vlasak discussed the PowerPoints on the KPBSD website that explain many of the district's federal funding sources. Principals are asked to present two of them every year to their site council meetings and eventually rotate through all of them. Bonnie Pierce suggested having a mechanism in place, such as social media, to assist student reps to educate fellow students about Title VI and KPNYL.

Tebughna Tutor

Elizabeth Standifer reported that the new tutor paid through the Tyonek Foundation Grant was going well.

Title VI Breakdown

Caroln Choate asked about the breakdown of Title VI funds. Conrad reported that funds are allocated according the following priority:

- 1) Title VI Site Tutors
- 2) Project Grad/KPNYL Oversight
- 3) ANSEP
- 4) Small amount towards administration

Title VI funding is based on a ratio, not necessarily number of Title VI students. Last year the number of Title VI students increased by 68 and funding went from $438,000 to $473,000.

VIII. ADJOURN

The meeting was adjourned with the next meeting set for November 9, 2016 from 3:00-4:30pm.
