Dear Families,

There will be no homework sent home this week!
Enjoy your time with your family!

Tuesday, December 3rd is going to be a busy day. We will be traveling in the morning to KCHS for the holiday musical practice. We will return to KCHS in time for lunch.

Students are asked to be at KCHS by 5:45 that evening wearing their holiday best. Please have your child use the restroom and leave their coats with you. Students will be sitting in the front rows with their class. I will meet them in the auditorium.

As a sidenote, we have been following the National Christmas tree's journey from Alaska. It has arrived in Washington DC and the official lighting is scheduled for December 3rd. The students are excited that their ornaments have finally made it there.

Our End of the Quarter Celebration will be held on December 6th at 3:00. We will be having an author's tea as the students will be reading their fractured fairy tales in small groups. We will begin as close to 3:00 IN THE LIBRARY as possible, then families may visit other classrooms as needed. Looking forward to seeing you then.
